Description of field setting; specific program/unit:

The field education contract serves as an ongoing resource for practicum activity and assignment planning; instructor feedback and student self-evaluation; and the student’s final evaluation. It is based on core social work competencies defined by our accrediting body, the Council on Social Work Education.

In 2008 the CSWE adopted a competency based approach to social work education and revised its educational standards. The Council established ten (10) core competencies comprised of social work knowledge, values and skills. The Council further suggested forty-one (41) practice behaviors by which students could demonstrate the integration and application of the competencies.

The University of Oklahoma Anne & Henry Zarrow School of Social Work is accountable to the Council to ensure that students have the opportunity to acquire each competency and to evaluate each student to determine the extent to which the competencies have been achieved. The Zarrow School has adopted all forty-one CSWE Practice Behaviors, and all of them have been designed into this contract. Required Practice Tasks further operationalize the practice behaviors for the purpose of competency demonstration in the field setting. These tasks ask the student to tie classroom knowledge to its application in practice. In order to accomplish the practice tasks, each student and field instructor will develop a Work Plan of assignments and activities grounded in the mission, culture, and work of the practicum site. During the practicum, the contract will act as a guide for the instructor and student as they utilize the site to bring to life in a practice setting the signature broad perspective of the social work profession. The work plan can be continually revised in response to ongoing feedback about student performance, new opportunities that come along or changes taking place at the practicum site. Both student and instructor can make helpful notes for themselves along the way and include them in the contract. Finally, the student and instructor will work together continually to Evaluate Student Performance of activities and assignments included in the work plan for each practice behavior. This evaluation can be an ongoing process generated by discussions at supervision conferences. In this way, the student can receive continuous instructive feedback about performance and new ideas can be generated to offer the student the best possible chance to succeed in the practicum.
*This education contract is based on the contributions of Ginger Cooke Robbins, Director of Field Practicum at the University Of Houston Graduate College of Social Work. Of particular importance to the Zarrow contract is the work Ginger and her field program faculty and affiliates have done to operationalize the CSWE practice behaviors for the purpose of student demonstration of competency in a practicum setting.

Student Self Assessment Summary

In order to assist with the development of the field practicum contract, students have been asked to do a Student Self Assessment in preparation for their initial supervisory conferences. Please check to signify that you have received a copy of your student’s self assessment.

Students are required to provide a copy of their current resume to their field instructor. Please check to signify that you have received a copy of your student’s resume.

Based on discussion of the Student Self Assessment and any additional instructor assessment related to the development of practicum assignments, student and instructor have identified the following:

Evaluation Instrument SWK 5846

The following evaluation instrument is built into the education contract. This design should assist field instructors as they provide students with ongoing feedback about their performance. When preceptors have been included in the plan for practicum supervision, their feedback must somehow be incorporated into this process.

Although feedback and evaluation are best as an ongoing dialogue, all placements have two official grading periods. In full time (block) placements, students are first evaluated at mid-semester. In two semester placements, students are first evaluated at the end of the first semester. This first evaluation is always referred to as the “Mid-Practicum Evaluation.” In all placements, students are evaluated at the end of the practicum; this evaluation is always referred to as the “Final Evaluation.”

At the end of each evaluation period the field instructor and student jointly review the student’s performance in terms of the criteria specified. The field instructor then assigns official Evaluation Instrument ratings. At Mid-practicum, these ratings must be based on actual performance of the criteria being evaluated, as opposed to anticipated progress during the remainder of the practicum. The field instructor provides a narrative description of “evidence to support” all ratings. Student and instructor together can develop “strategies to increase competence” throughout the practicum, i.e. ways in which practice behaviors and ratings can be further improved. In this way, feedback and improvement planning are structured into ongoing development of the education contract. When warranted, strategies to increase competence must be developed more formally by the field instructor and faculty field liaison as a school-required Performance Improvement Plan and included in the Evaluation of Student Performance narrative which appears at the end of the Field Practicum Contract.

On the scale provided after each practice behavior, please indicate level of performance by checking the appropriate box.

* The structure of this evaluation instrument and the rating scale were developed by the Office of Field Education at the University of Texas, Austin.
